A Line o' Cheer Each Day o' the Year. By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

First printing of an original poem, written daily for The Washington Herald.

Outside I'm seeming old. My locks are gray. The one-time springy step is gone for aye, And wrinkles chart my cheek and brow to show The paths I've trod in joy supreme and woe.

But deep within, down in the heart of me, Where none but I alone the truth can see No hint of Age appears upon the scroll That holds the written record of my soul.

In spirit, thanks to Cheer, as ever young, My heart holds songs as sweet as ever sung, And to the future still I look with zest As to the coming of some welcome guest.
